had been able to obtain their retirement on pension for physical disability by the pay y, which were started because of the fact that the number of such retirements had increased largely in 1911, has been found by Raymond B. Fosdick, Com missioner of Accounts. He had found, however, evidences of attempts by outsiders to "graft" on applicants for retirement.

In his report to Mayor Gaynor on his investigation of the workings of the surgical division of the Police Department, Con missioner Fosdick says:

Every effort was made to determine whether any of the retirements had been accomplished through fraud or dishonesty. Most of the witnesses (left in all) frankly stated that it was commonly believed in the department that a sum of money, generally $500, was the price of retirement, the money to be paid to a police surgeon or his agent. Each of these witnesses, however, insisted that he himself had paid nothing, and that he was not asked to pay anything.

One Man Refused to Answer.

The Commissioner cites a few exceptions One man, who was retired, refused to an swer the question: "Did you find it neces-sary to pay?" on the ground that to answer would tend to "degrade and incrimi-

Another man, still in the department who applied for retirement in October soon received a communication asking him to call on a firm of loan agents. He called, he said, and talked with a man named Rubenstelp, who said he would obtain the retirement of the officer for $500.

Ryan, the policeman, refused to pay, and when the surgeons found him physically fit he reported the incident to the head of the surgical board. The latter, with the aid of the detective bureau, tried to lay a trap for missioner Fosdick was unable to subporna Another case somewhat similar to this was brought to our attention by Commissioner Waldo. Louis Buttner, a patrolman attached to the 15th Precincip, made known to the surgeons on March 14, 1912, his intention to apply for retirement to indicate by its initials "cash on delivery"). The man told him that the price had gone to $700. On the following morning he again met the man, while the bridgh him that the price had gone to $700. On the following day Officer Buttner rement on the price and gone to $700. On the following day Officer Buttner rement on the ground that "Livey had raised the ante." That night "Chris, O'Donnell" called at Buttner's house and warned him called at Buttner's house and warned him to keep his mouth shut. ## Police Often Easy Victims.

It is our opinion that the police are often-times the easy victims of a few unscrupu-lous individuals, who trade upon their credulity. They should be made to under-stand, if they do not understand already, that practices of this kind are for the most part shams, and that so far as the attitude of the administration is concerned every effort will be made to run down and elimi-

I think it is one of the most strengous occupations a man can have. They est pregularly, sleep irregularly, are transferred irregularly and are mentally disturbed—you would be surprised to know the difficulties. I have known young men to have neurasthenia—mentally disturbed to have neurasthenia—mentally disturbed to the character of to have neurasthenia-mentally disturbed to such an extent from the character of their duties that they are not fit. It is a question whether they should make an arrest or whether they should not make an arrest, or whether to do this or to do that, and many of them are not able to withstand the strain. It is fairly complicated work

"sick leave" amounted to 2.6 per cent of all the time, and that in 1911 it increased to 3 per cent. The rates in Chicago and Boston for the same year were only 1.5 and 1.6 per cent, respectively.

ability, Commissioner Fosdick found that it was due first to the remanding of many fact that Commissioner Waldo held that a man could be retired on a pension for genof his duty, such as the contraction of tuberculosis, while previous commissioners had held that such retirement could be only for disability occurring from a specific act, such as the stopping of a runaway.

Commissioner Fosdick had one hundred men retired for disability prior to January 1, 1911, summoned for examination by independent surgical medical experts. Of that or physical condition such as to warrant retirement without a doubt. Doubts were expressed in regard to three, three were

OF LEFT-HANDED MEN

"Southpaw" Supplies the Genius and Progressive Ideas, Says Dr. Frye.

NO MENTION OF MARQUARD

Ehud, Son of Gera, Was First of the Brotherhood, and He Slew King with His Left Hand.

Orange, N. J., May 19 (Special) .- With sermon for left-handed people, the Ex cellent Order of the Knights and Ladies of Ehud was established here this even ing through the efforts of the Pev. Dr William A. Frye, pastor of the Orange Methodist Church. Certificates of mem bership were given by the minister, who had assembled the "southpaws" at his church with the special object of raising them out of their slough of despond and making them believe that to be left-handed was to be distinguished rather than blighted.

A hymn composed by Dr. Frye as his rayer "that the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man may come swiftly to the world" was a feature of the ser no question that never before in the history of this community were so many left-handed people brought together. Dr Frye, of course, is left-handed.

His text was: "But when the children of Israel cried unto the Lord the Lord raised them up a deliverer. Ehud, the son, of Gera, a Benjamite, a man left-handed. Right on the go-off, the minister pointed out, Ehud showed his originality and resourcefulness by making his left-handedness useful in delivering the people from bondage. He was sent to bear tribute to the king, Eglon. Being left-handed, he had his sword on the right side, where it failed to excite suspicion. While he was giving Eglon the "glad hand"-using his Iroquois right hand, as others were accustomed to do- he "got busy" with his left hand and right hand, as others were accustomed to do— he "got busy" with his left hand and plunged the blade into the king. Then his "Gristobal..." following were free.

"Of course, the left-handed man departs "Of course, the left-nanueu man of Frye. Colon... from the usual methods," said Dr. Frye. Colon... Niagara... 'So has every reformer, inventor, discover or champion of any progressive steps society, government or church. "The left-handed man is a constant argu-

rent for advancement and lawful departure from ruts and commonplace things. This man Ehud dared to be himself. He had no recedent. He is a shining example of what can be done by methods not used by others. The left-handed congregation sat up at this point, in expectation that Dr. Frye would make some mention of their heroes,

"southpaw" pitcher, and Marquard, the "Packey" McFarland, the cleverest boxer in the world. But the preacher disappointed tion the fact that the high bowling score in the State of New Jersey last year was nade by a left-handed man There was even a note of apelegy in the bottle "southpaws" to wonder if the preach-

In God's great human plan.

Our willing hand we give, The needy to uphold. And to this fellowship to live Is sweeter far than gold. Now, while we march this way Along the path of life, Let brother with his brother pray God save us from all strife.

Then the preacher continued: Then the Ten Commandments must be isted with him, for they are on the left. "Many people have looked upon the leftom a prominent woman who says that ure her.' We are horrifled at Chinese foot binding, but show the savage in us by pun-Smith was entering his apartment, when ishing, both mentally and physically, the left-banded child."
